The Mexican Question and the Monroe Doctrine.

Notwithstanding all the difficulties that beset the Washington Cabinet in opposing the Richmond Junta, the Secretary of State, Mr. Seward, has found time to write a circular on Mexican affairs to the American Legations in Europe, to be submitted to the respective governments to which they are accredited. This document was written early in March and has lately been made public. It starts out with the remark that an impression is growing in Europe that the Allied Powers wish to revolutionize Mexico with the object of establishing a monarchy. Then comes a singular sentence that cannot be well understood in any other way than that the United States desires peace with the Allies, but would side with Mexico if a monarchy be set up against its will. The next paragraph shows that the assurances of the Allied powers given to the President were that they only sought from Mexico redress of their grievances. We are left to infer that such an object is not at all opposed to the much-vaunted Monroe doctrine; but is perfectly legitimate. Were the object of the Allies a political one—the revolutionizing of Mexico, the suppression of the republic, the establishment of a monarchy contrary to the will of the people, or the acquisition of Mexican territory—it would be clearly opposed to the famous Monroe doctrine of no foreign or European interference in the affairs of this continent—a doctrine that President Monroe inaugurated at the desire of England to prevent a European alliance from attempting to re-conquer the Spanish-American republics. It seems that the rumor that it was the intention of the Allies to place the Austrian Archduke, Maximilian, on a throne in Mexico, was partly believed by the Washington Cabinet; so Mr. Seward, on behalf of his government, states, to use his own words—"in all kindness and candor," that no monarchy could exist in Mexico "unless sustained by European alliances, which, under the influence of the first invasion, would be practically the beginning of a permanent policy of armed intervention by monarchical Europe, at once injurious and inimical to the system of government generally adopted by the American continent." The hostility of the United States to a monarchy in Mexico is very clearly disclosed in this sentence. But, lest any doubt should exist as to the views of his government, Mr. Seward adds: "There can be no doubt that the permanent interests and the sympathies of our country would be on the side of the other American republics."

It will be remembered that the convention between France, England and Spain had in contemplation the occupation of certain parts of Mexico till such time as that republic paid up its indebtedness and gave satisfactory assurances that their subjects should be treated in conformity with the rights they had acquired under previous conventions and treaties. Fearful lest such armed occupation would promote a revolution, Mr. Seward is opposed to the presence of the allied forces, expressing the opinion that no revolution favorable to monarchy would be attempted in Mexico if they were absent. In order to clear up every doubt as to the policy of the United States respecting Mexico, allusion is made to the refusal of the Senate to sanction a measure proposed by Mr. Lincoln. The leading feature in that measure was, we believe, that the United States should guarantee the payment of sixty millions dollars of Mexican foreign indebtedness, and in return the allies should retire from the country. The Senate rejected the proposal. But from that Mr. Seward argues that it was only a matter of internal administration on which the Senate differed from the President—but that there is no disagreement as to the policy desirable for the United States to pursue towards Mexico and the Allies in case of armed intervention to change Mexico from a republic to a monarchy.

Since this document was written, England and Spain have settled their differences with the Mexican government. France, on the contrary, refused her assent, and has since been waging war; but latterly has met such serious reverses as to force the French General back to Vera Cruz. It is pretty evident that Louis Napoleon had some ulterior objects to be attained other than mere reparation of French debts. England and Spain were the largest creditors of Mexico, whilst France had but a small claim—only $264,000—they had nearly $73,000,000 due to them. If they were satisfied with Mexican securities and apologies, France ought to have been if the letter of the Allied convention was to be adhered to. It is pretty clearly proven, then, that something quite different from collecting the petty sum of a quarter of a million of dollars is the object of "the leading statesman of Europe."

The American continent is divided between the Anglo-Saxon and the Hispano-American races. The Gallic race in Canada and Louisiana are being slowly but surely absorbed by the Anglo-Saxon. At the mouth of the St. Lawrence and Mississippi the French language is bound to disappear officially. The French have never made such good colonists as the English; and, if we reason from the past, never will. So the conquest of Mexico by France, whilst it might be productive of order where anarchy now exists, would not promise to be productive of as great benefits to mankind as if the dominant race of North America occupied it. We may leave out entirely from this conclusion any reference to democratic or republican institutions; confine it simply to the Anglo-Saxon race, and their wealth-producing characteristics; their industrial energy and enterprise, and it is apparent that England—devoted as she is to trade and manufactures—would, in common with other nations, have those interests materially improved by such a change. England don't want Mexico. She refuses to be burdened with any more territory, except it may be for defensive purposes, as in South Africa, India and China. At her instance the Monroe doctrine was set up by the United States; and it is but natural to conclude that if Mexico should ultimately be unable to emerge from anarchy without foreign intervention, England would regard the occupation of Mexico by the United States as much more favorable to her interests than if Spain or France—the only two European nations who have put forth such pretensions—were to occupy that unhappy country.

Notice to the Public.
SAINSEVAIN'S WINE BITTERS; OR
California Vermouth.—These Bitters are obtaining a wide-spread celebrity in all parts of the State. It is sufficient evidence of their great merit to observe the large quantities shipped by our principal Wine Merchants to every part of the country. Sainsevain, however, like all other manufacturers of new and valuable articles, has to contend with unscrupulous parties, who are introducing a spurious mixture purporting to be his Wine Bitters, which noxious compounds are put up in the same style of bottles, labels, etc., so as to pass for the Sainsevain brand. We call attention to this fact so that our citizens may be upon their guard, and that when they ask for Sainsevain's Bitters, see that they get them. As pure Wine is destined to drive from use all alcoholic decoctions, so these Bitters will soon take the place of the adulterated preparations which now flood our market. Those desiring a pure and agreeable tonic should try Sainsevain's Wine Bitters or California Vermouth. We have appointed W. H. OLIVER, of Victoria, V. I., to be our Sole Agent for the British Possessions.

THE BRITISH COLONIST

Wednesday Morning, June 25, 1862.

The Dust Throwers.

Two-and-twenty respectable tradespeople were brought before Mr. Pemberton yesterday to answer charges of sweeping dust or throwing dirty water into the streets, two policemen having been detailed about a week ago to note the offenders and report them to the magistrate.

The first tradesman called said he had just cleaned the street before being summoned, but acknowledged sweeping dust into it.

The magistrate told him that he was liable to a fine of 40s., but as the court believed it was only necessary to call the attention of the respectable portion of the tradespeople to the necessity of keeping the town clean at the present time, he should only inflict a fine of 20s.

No. 2 had only swept the dust out of his store into the street.

Magistrate—You should have had it carted away.

No. 2.—There was nothing to cart away.

Magistrate.—Then why did you sweep it out? Unpleasant laughter, and defendant fined 20s.

No. 3's clerk swept dust out of the store, but denied sweeping it into the street.

The magistrate asked if he should bring another witness to prove the charge, in which case the penalty would be heavier. No. 3 pleaded guilty and was fined 20s.

No. 4 (a colored man) wished the complaining officer to explain the charge.

Officer.—Your boy swept the store out into the street. (Laughter.)

No. 4.—Sweep the store out into the street! (Renewed laughter.) I deny the charge your honor.

The officer said he meant that dust was swept from the store into the street by a colored lad.

No. 4.—Three other persons occupy the same building.

Another officer saw defendant's son sweep dust into the street.

No. 4.—If dust is "rubbage" then I am guilty. The summons says "rubbage" was swept into the street, I deny that dust is "rubbage," consequently the charge fails. (Laughter.)

The clerk was ordered to take down the evidence given by the officers, and defendant was fined 40s.

No. 5 had been in the habit of sweeping dust into the street and removing it every Saturday.

Magistrate.—You had better keep it in a box; I fine you 20s.

No. 6 indignantly denied the truth of the complaint, he had swept dust from the sidewalk into the street, but never from the store; the dust from the store always went into the backyard.

Magistrate.—Do you want to have the charge proved?

No. 6.—Well, I don't think it can be proved.

Magistrate.—Do you want to have it proved?

No. 6.—No, no, sir, I don't want to have it proved; but I don't think it can be proved. (Merriment.)

Magistrate.—Well, clerk, take down the evidence he wants to have it proved.

No. 6.—(Nervously)—No, sir, I don't want to have it proved.

Magis.—Then I will fine you 20s. (renewed merriment.)

No. 7 had been up before on a similar charge; his man might have swept dust into the street, but he doubted that he would do so.

Magis.—He may have done so?

No. 7.—Yes, your honor.

Magis.—Suppose then that I fine you, and you keep it out of my wages?

No. 7.—I don't think the thing has been done, your honor, and if I did—

Magis.—How do you plead? This is no time for speeches.

No. 7.—(hesitatingly)—Well, I plead guilty.

Fined 20s.

No. 8 pleaded guilty, and was fined 20s.

No. 9 failed to appear, and got 40s.

No. 10 and 11 were Celestians charged with throwing dirty water into Johnson street. One was fined 20s., the other was given three days' in which to remove the nuisance.

No. 12 was sure that the front of his store was as clean as many houses in town. Fined 20s.

No. 13 went to anything out of his store; the sweeper went to his chicken-ranch at the rear.

His front door was notoriously clean; but the tenements before him had the reputation of keeping a very dirty place.

Magis.—Do you plead guilty?

No. 12.—(excitedly)—A proof! I demand a proof! (great laughter.)

Two policemen proved that dust had been swept out of No. 12's store.

Defendant would go after witness.

Clerk of the court knew the witness that defendant proposed to bring. He (the proposed witness) was crazy. Why, it was only the other day that he had appeared in the Police Barracks with a quantity of white paper, and told him (the clerk) that he kept it long enough he would find out that a fearful crime had been committed, "and would become entitled to a heavy reward."

No. 12 was fined 40s. because he demanded a "proof."

No. 13 pleaded guilty, and placed 20s. on the desk; but explained that his young man merely swept the dust into the street and left it there long enough to procure a shovel and lift it into a box. Case postponed.

No. 14 knew nothing about the dust.

Magis.—Do you wish to have it proved?

No. 14.—No. I don't wish to be severe, your honor. Did you (to the officer) see me sweep dust into the street?

Officer could not swear to the person who had done it.

Another officer saw 14's wife sweep out the dust.

No. 14.—My wife has been sick a-bed for a week. You told me when you brought the summons that you didn't know anything about this case.

Magis.—Well, he is on his oath now—he wasn't then.

The officer saw 14's wife washing clothes when he served the summons.

Postponed for one day, when, if the wife swears that she did not do as charged, the complaint will be dismissed.

No. 15 had the dust of his store swept into street and carted away in half an hour. Dismissed.

No. 16, accused of sweeping sawdust into the street, proved that he had no sawdust to sweep. Dismissed.

No. 17 and 18 were postponed.

No. 19 was fined 20s. and No. 20, a barber, who was in the habit of sweeping the hair chopped from his customers' heads into the street, whence it was blown all over town, was mulcted in a like sum.

The remaining two cases were uninteresting. Before concluding the examination, Mr. Pemberton gave notice that if any of the parties fined could prove that they swept dust into the street with the intention of having it removed within half an hour thereafter the money would be refunded.

THE SMALL POX AT THE POLICE BARRACKS.—Yesterday morning it was ascertained that policeman Weihe, who was ailing for several days, had been attacked with small pox in its most virulent form, and his removal to the pox hospital was at once made. This officer, it will be remembered, was detailed to attend the burial of the Indian bodies at Ogden Point and Cadboro Bay, and the destruction of their clothing and tenements. Never having been vaccinated, he has fallen a victim to the loathsome disease, the ravages of which he was using his utmost exertions to arrest. The Court of Revision, which has heretofore held its sittings at the barracks, yesterday resigned their place in favor of the small pox, and removed to Fiddell's building. Several of the policemen have been freshly vaccinated, and considerable alarm is felt lest the disease may attack other members of the force.

FOR THE NEW EXPRESS COMPANY.—The Eliza Anderson will take forward to British Columbia to-day 14 horses for the British Columbia and Victoria Express Company, to be placed on the route to Cariboo between the towns of Lillooet and Lytton, and will be used in carrying the mails and express.

PAINFUL RUMOR.—There is a rumor afloat in town that a number of Stickeen adventurers from this place were drowned off Port Rupert by the capsizing of their canoe. Doubtful.

The International Hotel Assault Case.
George Carter, a mulatto, recently from Australia, yesterday appeared in the Police Court to answer a charge of having assaulted Mr. Chadwick, proprietor of the International Hotel.

From the evidence brought forward it appeared that Carter had visited the hotel on several occasions to see a sick friend, and had sat down in the sitting room, greatly to the annoyance of the proprietor of the hotel and the guests. When requested to leave he refused to comply until he got ready, and on Monday, when again requested to withdraw, he again declined, and was forcibly ejected by Mr. Chadwick, who, during the scuffle which ensued, received several severe blows in the face from the accused.

For the defence the prisoner called three white friends, one of whom swore that Chadwick struck Carter several times; but the witness' evidence was disputed by a lady residing opposite to the hotel, who stated that Chadwick was knocked senseless, and therefore could not have assaulted Carter.

The prisoner made a statement to the Court to the effect that seeing the sign of "hotel" over the door, and believing this to be an English colony, he had entered. When ordered out, he asked the reason, and was told it was because he was a colored man. Where he (the accused) came from, if a man put "hotel" over his door, the house was regarded as open to the public.

Mr. Chadwick remarked that his "hotel" was a private boarding-house; he sold no spirits, and only kept a trading license.

The Court said that the colored man seemed to have mistaken his course. Had he not received notice on several occasions that his presence was not desirable, there might be some excuse found for his conduct, but at present there appeared to be nothing in palliation. Mr. Chadwick had a right to keep what he pleased—a house exclusively for the accommodation of either race—or, as he preferred them—and no person had a right to interfere with him so long as it was not an hotel.

Prisoner replied that it looked very strange to him that because he was a colored man he was not allowed to enter an hotel. Had Mr. Chadwick put him out of his hotel in Melbourne, he would have been heavily fined and his house closed.

Mr. Pemberton, in passing judgment, said that no one regretted more than the Court the present state of feeling towards the colored people and thought it wrong to oppress them because of their color; but everybody had a right to choose his own company, and could not be compelled to associate with those he did not wish to know. The Court did not lend its influence to one side or the other, and so far as the magistrate was personally concerned he had no objection to associate with a man of color so long as he was respectable and behaved himself, and he could not see why they were not admitted into society. As regarded the assault, it seemed uncalled for and would serve to injure the colored cause very much in this community. For the sake of the colored people he regretted the occurrence. The accused was then fined £5, which he paid and was discharged.

ONEGON.—By the arrival of the Eliza Anderson yesterday, we have received Oregon papers to the 19th inst. The Portland Times says that nearly half of the city level is inundated, and that in the First Ward the water is up to the second story windows. At the Dalles and the Cascades the river was rising more rapidly than ever. The town of Monticello is reported as entirely under water. The destruction of property is immense. A man named Desmond was stabbed and killed on the 15th inst. at Portland, by William Lincoln, said to be a relative of the President. The steamship Sierra Nevada arrived at Portland on the 19th.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION.—From advertisement given elsewhere, it will be seen that the American residents on Puget Sound are preparing to celebrate the 86th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence in a becoming manner, and to accomplish that end, invite British subjects and American citizens resident in these colonies to unite with them in the festivities. The steamer Eliza Anderson will leave here on the morning of the 3d for Olympia, returning on the evening of the 6th. Fare up and back, $20.

FOR BENTINEK ARM.—Yesterday afternoon the Labouchere came alongside the wharf and took aboard about 50 tons of freight and 34 pack-animals for Bentinek Arm. A few more animals will be put aboard this morning.

FOR STICKEEN.—The H. B. Co.'s steamer Labouchere and the schooner Rebecca, will leave for Stickeen river this morning.

□ The Eliza Anderson will leave at 8 o'clock this morning for New Westminster.

□ A large sail-vessel passed into Esquimalt harbor last evening.

□ See Mr. Backus' advertisement of auction to-day, of clothing, dry goods, and woolen goods.

□ Mr. McCrea, will hold a sale of groceries, provisions, flour, &c., this morning.

Copper Mining—No. 5.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST.—As some instances were given in communication No. 4 of irregular veins and of irregularities in true veins, it is proper to state that in a large portion of this continent (the United States) "there have been no such complicated phenomena of veins of different ages observed. In the region to which most properly the term mining district may be applied, namely, Lake Superior, there are numerous veins, but they do not afford evidence of more than one epoch of formation.

In any limited district, for instance, that of Keweenaw Point, the veins are nearly parallel with each other, and are not intersected by cross-courses which heave them from their courses." (Sach might be found to be the case in this portion of Northern America.) "In a few instances there seems to have been slips of the different beds of rock upon each other, which have shifted the veins at the junction for a few feet to one side or the other. In the Southern States, the metalliferous deposits usually lie in the direction of the stratification, belonging to the class of segregated veins, and are not crossed by any fissure veins. It will not therefore be necessary to go into any lengthy description of the particular appearance attendant on such intersections, especially as they differ in the various districts. In general, however, the crossing or union of two veins is wont to be considered as advantageous to the production of ore at that spot, and rich bunches of mineral are looked for by the miner at their junction, especially if the angle at which they meet is a small one. Sometimes one lode impoverishes the other for some distance, carrying all the ore with it, a remarkable instance of this kind occurs in the Himalaht mine near Freiberg.

LAKE SUPERIOR.—"In 1854 there were seventy-five mines being worked on the north shore of the lake, employing about 2500 men; the produce of pure copper for that year was 2000 tons. The amount of money expended to 31st December, 1853, was, as nearly as can be ascertained $4,500,000; the value of copper produced, at 25 cents per lb., $2,700,000, of which $504,000 was paid in dividends.

"Of the capital expended, a considerable portion was employed in opening mines with every reasonable hope of their becoming profitable, but a large amount was in the first instance irrevocably sunk during the rage of speculation and foolish excitement. However, notwithstanding the moderate price of Lake Superior Copper Stocks, their cash value at the period we allude to (1854) exceeded the whole amount expended. These mines have a character of permanence; there is little doubt but that their product will go on steadily increasing, as it has done during the eight years prior to 1854; during which period mining operations then may be said to have fairly commenced."

AUSTRALIA.—"As far back as 1850, there were 1003 persons employed at the Burra Burra copper mine, and 18,692 tons of ore shipped, yielding from 24 to 28 per cent. In 1852 a magnificent 250 horse-power engine was erected at the mine, cylinder 80 inches, and 11 feet stroke; the cost of running it amounted to £200 per week, so great is the scarcity of fuel. At a meeting of the proprietors, held at Adelaide, in October, 1853, it appeared that in spite of the continued attractions of the gold fields, the works at the mine had begun to be resumed, 1780 tons of ore, of 18 per cent., had been taken out during the preceding six months, and the number of underground men had been increased to eighty.

"Kapunda mine is the next in importance to Burra Burra, in Australia. The amount of pure copper furnished to commerce by Australia in 1853 was 2650 tons. The effects of the gold discoveries were very sensibly felt in the amount of ores raised from the mines in the years immediately following 1850; but a considerable quantity of ore had been already accumulated, or was on its way to market, there was a much greater falling off than the shipments would indicate."

CHILL.—"In spite of the very great difficulties which the mining interest of this country has had to contend with, such as the want of facilities of communication, and the high price of materials of every kind, it has been rapidly developed during the last few years. Copper is (1853) already the most important product, although the amount of silver extracted is very considerable."

"The principal mines are the Carrisal, north of Huasco, La Hijnera, between Huasco and Conquimbo, producing large quantities of copper pyrites and oxides, of from 20 to 25 per cent. Numerous mines are also worked in the neighborhood of Copiapo. Here was obtained from the upper part of the veins an immense quantity of gold up to the close of the last century. As the gold began to fall off, copper was found. In 1815 there were more than 50 mines at work in that department, producing ore of from 20 to 25 per cent; part of which was smelted there, but the greater portion was shipped to England. At Cerro Blanco the vein was worked for silver to the depth of 600 feet, the ore gradually changed, and consisted chiefly of grey copper and galena; at a greater depth the grey ore gave way to pyritic copper, and the proportion of lead increased."

"No country, except it be England, exceeds Chili in the amount of copper produced. In 1849 the amount of ores produced was 12,450; since then it has increased. In 1852 they exported to the United States alone, ores and metal amounting to $1,525,199."

CUBA.—"The ores found in this island do not seem to be in regular veins, but in beds and masses, subordinate to igneous rocks, especially granite, stone and serpentine. The Gangues are usually dolomite and serpentine. The yellow sulphures are associated with hydrated oxide of iron; near the surface there is considerable native copper, and oxide and carbonate, and other oxidized ores have been found. The ores are chiefly sent to Swansea. The average yield is from 15 to 18 per cent. The affairs of the principal company, "The Consolidated Copper Mines of Cuba Association" are not made public, (it is suspected they find considerable gold with the copper.) They have 12,000 shares, with £40 paid up; in 1849 they sold 19,772 tons of ore."

"There is also "the Royal Santiago Mining Co." 17,000 shares, £13 paid up (in 1837). From 1840 to 1845 they raised $5,440 tons of ore, value £577,533; expenses £247,043, net profit per ton, £48. Since that time there has been a loss rather than a profit, therefore it may be presumed the beds or masses have been exhausted."

ECONOMIST.

Assault on a Woman.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST.—I read with feelings of disgust the particulars of your item with the above caption. The only reason why such matter ought to be referred to in a paper that makes its daily rounds among respectable families, would be to brand the ruffian who acted the prominent part, so as to guard the public against the contamination of such a wretch. I trust therefore that you will correct your error by giving the full name of the "Citizen."

ONE WHO DOES NOT ADVERTISE.

PERSONAL.—The afflicted will now have an opportunity of consulting Dr. J. Flattery, the highly commended and distinguished Physician and Surgeon, from San Francisco. He will remain at the Colonial Hotel, in this city, but a few days, previous to his return to San Francisco.

The Dr. is a graduate of medicine and literary gentleman, and we certainly hazard nothing in commending him to the suffering portion of our community. He presents testimonials of the highest respectability as to his skillfulness, and is provided with the latest and most improved instruments as aids to his profession. His newly invented Stickeenope, for the examination of the lungs, is a most decided improvement on the old. Also, his Laryngeal Speculum (a concave metallic mirror) a most valuable instrument, which prepares him to convey light within the throat, and to examine the vocal organs, and the Throat Diseases is principally by the use of medical Inhalants. The Dr. also gives particular attention to Female Complaints, Chronic Diseases, cases of Delicacy, Secondary Syphilis, Diseases of the Eye and Ear, and is fully prepared to perform any and even the most delicate surgical operation.

VICTORIANS should test the merits of Dr. HOS-TEITER'S STOMACH BITTERS. While it is highly palatable as a beverage, it is unequalled as a tonic and invigorator. In the pursuit of fortune at the mines many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestive organs and of various kinds of fever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand at the mines. Its daily use will restore the tone of a deranged stomach, impart fresh vitality to the digestive functions, and cheer the spirits. Yet the Bitters are the safest of all stimulants. Let the miner who is exposed to a hot and dry, wet and cold, be certain to obtain a supply of genuine Hostetter's Bitters, and he will find it a certain safeguard to health.

Sold by Druggists and dealers every where.

THE WORLD'S FRIEND!
Holloway's Ointment.
A Cure for Piles and Fistulas.
Inflammation of sensitive parts, piles, fistulas, and such like painful diseases may be presently relieved, and ultimately cured, by the proper and diligent use of the cooling and healing Ointment, whose action should, in such cases, be assisted by judicious doses of Pills: ere many days have elapsed the anxious patient will experience a wonderful degree of ease from this treatment. They are equally suitable to both sexes, and all ages.
Coughs, Colds, and Asthma.
These complaints of the chest come on with alarming frequency. The Ointment should assiduously be rubbed at least twice a day on the chest and between the shoulders, when the violence of all symptoms will gradually give way, the breathing become longer, and the oppression less. No medicines are more efficient in chest complaints, none can be used with equal safety and certainty. Both Pills and Ointment are accompanied by very clear and simple directions for using them.
A Man who refused to have his Leg off.
"From the Kilmish Advertiser, June 2nd, 1860."
Being a Case of Erysipelas, Magistrate, said in the Court Room at Kilmish, that he knew a man who had been in the Infirmary and was actually turned out as incurable, on his way home to Kilmish, he purchased at Ennis, Holloway's Pills and Ointment, for, as he said, it could not be worse with him. This man, said Mr. Cox, became by their use as sound and as healthy as any man in the room. These celebrated Pills and Ointment will cure any wound, sore, or ulcer, however long standing, if properly used according to the printed directions.
Gout and Rheumatism.
The essence of these diseases lies in the blood, which, as floating through each vessel, the pain-giving poison, which irritates and inflames every tissue it comes in contact with, and produces the hot, swollen, elastic enlargement about the joints so characteristic of gouty diseases. The philosophy of cure consists in overcoming this depravity in the blood, which is rapidly purified by the use of the Pills. The Ointment, when rubbed upon the skin, penetrates the system through the pores, acts in unison with the Pills, and soon effects a cure.
Dropsy, Swollen Legs or Ankles.
The various kinds of dropsy, whether windy or watery, arise from some obstruction to the free circulation through the blood vessels or lymphatics, or depend on the inflamed state of some secretory surface. Holloway's remedies, of which the efficacy cannot be exaggerated, act directly upon the blood, the absorbents and excretions, with a power that no dropsy, however inveterate, can long resist. They regulate the proper flow of blood to every organ, and purify it likewise—they filter out everything that is morbid or injurious—they thoroughly regenerate every function, yet potent as they are for good, they are powerless for evil. They do not contain mercury or any noxious substances. They act safely and certainly.
Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, and Old Ulcers.
This invaluable Ointment was never known to fail in the cure of any wound, any sore, or any ulcer—as can be proved by innumerable testimonials from persons who had been discharged from Hospitals as incurable, and yet by perseverance they have been made as sound as they were the day they were born, by the use of this Ointment. For pimpley eruptions, eczema, scalds, and scorbutic humors, it is equally efficacious.
Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:
Bad Legs, Chloretic foot, Gout, Sore-throats, Bad Breasts, Chills, Skin-diseases, Curled Hands, Clap, Scum, Bunions, Corns (Soft), Swellings, Sore-heads, Bite of Mosquitoes, Cancers, Lumbago, Piles, Rheumatism, and Stiff Joints, Contractions, Elephantiasis, Wounds, Cuts, and Scalds, Elephantiasis, Wounds, Cuts, and Scalds.
There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.
N. B. Directions for the guidance of patients in every disease are affixed to each Pot.
